Not all laws passed by Congress have been "good" laws

HOMESTEAD ACT (1862)
 In 1862 the Homestead Act was passed, providing 160 acres of public land free to any adult citizen or head of family who had lived on the land for five years. By 1900, 600,000 homesteaders had claimed 80 million acres.
Pros: Populated the Great Plains and allowed for the development of the American agricultural base.
Cons: Displacement of Native Americans and Buffalo. Dry farming practices would lead to the Dust Bowl of the 1930s.

Oct 18-7:57 PM

Not all laws passed by Congress have been "good" laws

ALIEN AND SEDITION ACTS (1798)
 Two laws enacted by the Federalist-controlled U.S. Congress, allegedly in response to the hostile actions of the French Revolutionary government on the seas and in the councils of diplomacy. These acts made it a criminal act to criticize the government and gave the President power to imprison or deport aliens who were suspected of activities posing a threat to the national government.
Pros: Gave more power the national government when we feared we were about to go to war with France.
Cons: Any one ever heard of freedom of speech?

Oct 18-7:57 PM

Not all laws passed by Congress have been "good" laws

CHINESE EXCLUSION ACT OF 1882
 Due to the high influx of Chinese immigrants to the West Coast in the 1880's Congress passed this law, which forbid any Chinese for entering the United States until 1892.
Pros: Stopped the influx of cheap Chinese labor.
Cons: It was a law directed against a specific racial group and it stopped the influx of cheap Chinese labor.

Electoral College System Established in Article II Sec 1

- * Unanimously chose George Washington as President
 - * After Washington's retirement, 2 national political parties developed
 - * Democratic-Republicans
 - * Federalists
 - * Electors are selected by the state's party & are supposed to vote for the candidate they are slated for. There is no legal requirement in many states that obligate electors to do so. (unwritten constitution)
- Those who do not are called Faithless Electors

Cons	Pros
<ul style="list-style-type: none">➤ Electoral College system makes the election process a complicated system.➤ The original intent of the Founding Fathers is no longer relevant. They didn't anticipate national political parties or the advanced communications network that brings candidates directly to the electorate.➤ It has the potential of frustrating the popular will of the people.➤ There is a possibility of "faithless electors" who defect from the candidate to whom they are pledged.➤ It is undemocratic when the election is thrown into the House of Representatives.➤ In all but 2 states (Maine & Nebraska) "Winner takes all" is the rule, which leads to voter apathy.➤ Candidates neglect "safe states" in the election campaign.➤ It is an extra expense to the American people which theoretically delays election results.	<ul style="list-style-type: none">➤ Would any other system be better?➤ The Electoral College system has worked.➤ This system maintains a federal system➤ It fosters a 2-party system by thwarting splinter parties which could easily throw an election into the House.➤ It democratically supports population centers by giving urban areas more electoral power. This is where most of the voters are.➤ It eliminates the possibility of electing a minority president who would represent the views of a minority of Americans.➤ If presidents were elected by popular vote, they would wage campaigns and advertise all across the nation, rather than concentrating in a handful of battleground states.

Here's the basic Electoral College map, with states that Clinton won in blue and states that Trump won in red

Oct 23-2:10 PM

But, of course, the US population is not evenly distributed among the states. This map distorts the sizes of the states to reflect their varying populations.

Oct 23-2:10 PM

States themselves are not monolithically blue or red. Here's the projected winner in each county in the US. At first glance, there are a handful of blue islands, mostly concentrated along the coasts, surrounded by a sea of red.

Oct 23-2:07 PM

But many of those blue counties contain dense cities. Resizing counties by population, it becomes a little clearer why Clinton won the popular vote but lost the Electoral College.

Judicial Branch

- Authority from Article III of the Constitution but the nature & structure of the national judicial system was left up to Congress
- Main purpose: to interpret the laws and administer justice
- Consists of a system of federal courts, including the:
 - Supreme Court
 - Court of Appeals
 - District Court

Packet p. 19

Oct 29-4:09 PM

Precedent and Tradition have given the Supreme Court the power to decide whether state and federal laws are constitutional

The Supreme Court is comprised of 9 justices with 1 justice serving as Chief Justice

Court Justices receive a salary of $208,100 while the Chief Justice receives a salary of $217,400 per year

Oct 27-6:02 AM

6 Justices make a quorum & a majority is necessary for a decision

Justices are appointed by the President/approved by the Senate. Approximately 1 in 5 presidential selections to the Court have been rejected by the Senate.

Oct 27-6:05 AM

Members of the Supreme Court

- Appointed by the President
 - Confirmed by the Senate
- Serve until they Die, Resign, Retire or are Impeached

Oct 29-4:09 PM

Background of the case

* 1800 election - Thomas Jefferson defeated incumbent John Adams, a strong Federalist

Oct 27-9:40 PM

Background of the case

1. Before leaving office, Adams appointed several Federalist circuit judges and justices of the peace via the Judiciary Act of 1801 - all approved by the Senate.
2. His Sec. of State, James Madison, was to deliver the commissions.

Oct 27-9:40 PM

Background of the case

- * Judiciary Act of 1801 modified the Judiciary Act of 1789
 - Established 10 new district courts
 - Increased number of circuit courts from 3 to 6
 - Added additional judges to each circuit
 - Gave the President the authority to appoint Federal judges & justices of the peace to each circuit
 - Reduced the number of Supreme Court justices from six to five

Oct 27-9:57 PM

Marbury v Madison

3. Madison didn't deliver all of the commissions before Adams' term expired. When Jefferson took office, he ordered the halt of delivery of those not yet delivered.
 - * Jefferson believed the commissions were void since they had not been delivered prior to the end of Adams' term
 - * The new Congress overturned the new judiciary act and returned to the 1789 version

Oct 27-9:57 PM

Marbury v Madison

4. Jefferson allowed most of the judges to take their jobs . . . except Marbury!
5. Congress overturned the new Judiciary Act of 1801 and returned to the one of 1789

Oct 27-9:57 PM

Marbury v Madison

- * William Marbury sued Sec. of State James Madison
- * Marbury asked the Supreme Court of the United States to issue a writ of mandamus (a court order that requires an official to perform or refrain from performing a certain duty) to order Madison to deliver the commission
- * The Supreme Court was given that power in the Judiciary Act of 1789

Oct 27-9:57 PM

Marbury v Madison

6. Chief Justice John Marshall understands that if the Court awards Marbury a writ of mandamus, President Jefferson would ignore it
 - * He also knows if he denies the writ it would appear that the Justices had acted out of fear

Oct 27-10:13 PM

Marbury v Madison

7. The Court ruled that the Judiciary Act of 1789 did give it the authority to appoint Marbury, but the Constitution did not.

Oct 27-10:13 PM

Marbury v Madison

8. This case established the principle of Judicial Review

Oct 27-10:13 PM

Marbury v Madison

9. The judicial branch can check the power of the legislative and executive branch by determining if a law is constitutional or not.

Oct 27-10:13 PM

1. Was Marbury legally entitled to the Justice of the Peace commission?

Yes! The appointment was made by the President and confirmed by the Senate

Oct 27-10:31 PM

2. Was a Writ of Mandamus the proper remedy to enforce Marbury's right to the commission?

Yes!

Oct 27-10:31 PM

3. Could the Supreme Court lawfully and constitutionally issue this writ of mandamus?

No! Although the Judiciary Act of 1789 gave the Court power to issue Writs of Mandamus, the Constitution does not. This act of Congress was in conflict with the Constitution

Homework - Review your packet. Test is probably next Tuesday or Wednesday.

Nov 2-9:22 AM

1. What action did Pres. Adams take just before he left office?
He appointed a bunch of new Federalist judges
2. Who was to deliver this commission?
John Marshall, his former Sec. of State and now Chief Justice
3. Why didn't Madison deliver these commissions?
He was ordered by Jefferson not to deliver them
4. Did Jefferson finally allow the judges to take their jobs?
He allowed most of them to take their jobs, but not William Marbury

Oct 24-2:18 PM

5. What did Congress pass in an attempt to give the Supreme Court the power to appoint Marbury?

The Federal Judiciary Act of 1789/1801

6. What dilemma did the Court face with the Marbury case?

If it ruled for Marbury, Jefferson would probably ignore the order
If it ruled against Marbury, it would show the court had given in to political pressure of Jefferson

7. How did the Court address the issue and solve the dilemma at the same time?

The Court said Marbury was legally entitled to the job
The Court order was the proper remedy to enforce Marbury's right to the job
The Judiciary Act was unconstitutional because it went beyond the constitutional authority given to the Court.

8. What impact did the Marbury case have on the power and authority of the Judicial Branch?

Established the concept of Judicial Review

9. How is this case an example of checks and balances? Showed that the executive branch must enforce the law and that the legislative branch must work within the confines of the Constitution.

Oct 24-2:20 PM

What happens when an Act of Congress conflicts with the Constitution

Chief Justice John Marshall answered that Acts of Congress that conflict with the Constitution are not law and the Courts are bound instead to follow the Constitution, affirming the principle of judicial review
